* The definition of 'Impact' for TRDRP contains either OR both- the scientific impact in a sustained and clear manner on the research field, as well as a clear and targeted impact on California-specific issues related to communities, and state, local, policies related to tobacco use and control.

 Community is broadly defined as any group of individuals sharing a common characteristic, such as culture, language, race, ethnicity, gender, age, sexual orientation, or other attribute that might impact the effectiveness of tobacco control programs.
